

WeldingWorld

Awards presented by TWI at Imperial War Museum, Duxford

The Welding Institute's Annual Awards and Dinner took place on 20 June 2017 at the Imperial War Museum in Duxford, Cambridge, with over 200 invited guests from industry and academia. The evening began with an Awards Ceremony introduced by TWI Chief Executive Christoph Wiesner OBE, Steven Dearden, Paul Tooms and Prof Steve Yianni were among those presenting a series of awards in recognition of major contributions made in welding, joining and engineering related technologies.

The Brooker Award (donated by Johnson Matthey plc): Dr Guoqing Wang, CALT

Bevan Braithwaite Award for Enterprise: Sam Leon, AMEC-Foster Wheeler

Lidstone Award: Andrew Low, INTECSEA

Larke-Lillicrap Award: Prof Stewart Williams, Cranfield University

Honorary Fellowships: Prof John Baxter CBE; Eur Ing David Howarth; Tim Jessop

Distinguished Service Awards: Eur Ing Paul Jordinson; Paul Craddock; Owen Gorton

Awards Panel Special Recognition Award: Josh Peek, L&G Skilled Engineering

TWI Commendation Award: Kyle Power

Richard Weck Award: Sullivan Smith, TWI

The Welding Institute Branch Loyal Service Awards: Eur Ing Alan Johnson (Eastern Counties); Alan Shand (Eastern Counties); Ian Hogarth (Teesside) Neil Hendry (Scottish)

SkillWeld Trophy 2014: James Elliott, GE Power

Construction Metal Work 2016: Christopher Taylor

The Armourers and Brasiers' Company Awards series, supporting education and innovation in metals and materials:

Best Final-Year PhD Student: Dorothy Winful, TWI; Tom Peat, University of Strathclyde

Best STEM Ambassador: Darren Williams, TWI

Guest industry speaker for the evening was Mr Tommaso Ghidini, Head of Structures, Mechanisms and Materials Division at the European Space Agency.

TWI Chief Executive Christoph Wiesner thanked Mr Ghidini and the guests, notably the Professional Members of The Welding Institute, Industrial Members and customers of TWI, academic partners and business associates, acknowledging those who continue to serve and support the organisation. The Welding Institute Awards are awarded by the Council of The Welding Institute on an annual basis.